WHEELING, SEPTEMBER 14, 1895.

Inconstancy and Nerve.

It requires an enormous amount of nerve, mixed with large chunks of inconstancy, to conduct a Democratic newspaper these days, as witness the following sentence from an editorial in the Democratic organ in this city:

"Half the manufacturers of the country appointed the new tariff in the responses to the acquisition of the senate finance committee before the measure was adopted; and now the other half are rapidly becoming converted to its support."

The assertion is, of course, an exaggeration, but that is not to the point.
In the days of Republican tariff legislation it was a favorite Democratic argument that the trouble with the protective policy was that it consulted only the interests of the manufacturers; that they, in fact, dictated it and they were the only people benefited. Now we are told that the manufacturers of the country are bubbling over with joy at a departure from a policy that was making them rich so fast, and are falling over each other in the haste to endorse a policy that was designed by the "reformers" to cut down their profits.

If there was one thing more than another that brought about the defeat of the Republican party in 1892 it was the anarchistic appeal made by the Democratic press and leaders to the prejudices of the people against the manufacturers, who were "the sole beneficiaries of protection." Those who were affected by that cry will be apt to inquire if the fact that manufacturers were the chief advocates of a certain policy in 1892 was just ground for voting it down, why the same rule should not apply now. The proposition is absurd, but it is consistent with the Democratic plan of campaign.

Another thing is suggested by our neighbor's paragraph. There are others who have been strangely "converted to the support of the new tariff," and they constitute very nearly the entire Democratic party. At the time of its passage only a year ago, the new law was in their opinion "an infamous compromise with protection," a "base betrayal of Democratic principles," a "violation of platform pledges," and a "product of party perjury and party dishonor." Almost every Democratic member of the house of representatives voted for it under protest and the Democratic President refused to give it his sanction.
It was denounced bitterly from one end of the country to the other and the chairman of the ways and means committee disowned it on the floor of the house. The "conversion" of the Democratic leaders to its support at this late day is not a conversion in fact. It is simply a hedging of their own position for a partisan purpose.

The people of the United States are not fools and have not forgotten the past. Neither have they ceased to bear in mind that the Democratic leaders have declared that the war on protection is only begun, and that the present "compromise law" is only the first step in the direction of the free trade which they intend to force upon the country if they are restored to power in Congress.

The contest for the America's cup was a fiasco, but did not prove so before it was thoroughly demonstrated that the Defender was the best boat. In this the lovers of yachting in particular and Americans in general find some compensation for their disappointment.

The Farmer Was Harassed.

It is to-day below sixty cents in the Chicago market. The same is true of other agricultural products.

The farmers are beginning to understand that low duties on imports has not brought them the promised relief.
Our British friends are buying in the cheapest markets and are taking the wheat of Russia, India and Argentina.
They are not now and have no intention of buying our higher priced agricultural products merely to show their appreciation of the privilege we have afforded them of selling their manufactured goods in a dear market. They will only buy our farm products, and do only buy them, when we can sell as cheap or cheaper than they can get them from our competitors. The reciprocity which the advocates of lower duties and free trade talk so much about is an irredeemable dream.

A Chicago tough indulged in the sport of cutting off a Chinaman's queue and had to pay a $25 fine for his fun.
Even a Chinaman has his rights in this country.

An Unjustifiable Charge.

The Sistersville Daily Oil Review is a very good newspaper, and is one of the Intelligencer's most valued exchanges.
When it confines itself to the news, and does not go outside of the limits of respectable journalism to engage in unjustifiable assaults on innocent people, it performs its whole duty to the community in which it is published, and is worthy of the respect and patronage of its constituency. There are occasions, however, when it does indulge in an eccentricity of the sort indicated and yesterday was one of them. In a highly sensational article, embellished with lurid headlines, the Review gives an account of what it terms an "infamous, damnable outrage" perpetrated on Sis-tersville, which, without investigation, and relying solely upon an unauthoritized report, it declares was the work of the authorities of the city of Wheeling.

The charge, briefly stated, is that a carload of tramps was unloaded at Sis-tersville from an Ohio River railroad train by two special officers "who came up from Parkersburg" and who stated that they were acting under orders from the Wheeling authorities. Had our valued contemporary of the oil city expended the same amount of force and enthusiasm in ascertaining the bottom facts of the matter that it did in denouncing the city of Wheeling and demanding that Sistersville business men boycott this community, it would have kept itself free from the charge of exhibiting a malicious spirit and spared itself a large amount of undue excitement.

If the editor of the Review had smothered his malice long enough to consider, he would have seen that the statement made by the two officers who landed the tramps that they were acting under orders from Wheeling city authorities was false on the face of it.
In the first place, Wheeling officials have no authority of law for such an action, and in the second place if they had such authority it would be neither necessary nor reasonable for them to employ Parkersburg officers to execute their orders. Without further discussion it may be at once seen that the Review's excited charge is ridiculously absurd. In fact, it is absolutely untrue.

Wheeling authorities are not engaged in the business of dumping trash into other towns, and Wheeling people, who desire only the pleasantest social and business relations with their neighbors, would never endorse such conduct. A great many Wheeling citizens are interested in Sistersville, financially and otherwise, and this city would be the very last of all Sistersville's neighbors to do her an ill turn. We advise our excitable contemporary to be less hasty in future in its conclusions, and before publishing to the world a libel on a neighboring community to make a thorough investigation of whatever charges come to its knowledge.

Two bad accidents, in which five lives were lost and a number of people maimed, marred the Louisville G. A. R. encampment. Both could have been avoided.

Universalist State Conference.

GLEN EASTON, W. VA., Sept. 12.—The fifth annual conference of Universalists of West Virginia, met at the Fork Ridge Universalist church, Marshall county, on September 6, and closed on September 8. A large number was present during the entire series of meetings. The next conference will be held at Buckhannon, beginning on the second Friday in September, 1896.

Writ of Error Allowed.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 13.—The court of appeals at Charles-Town to-day granted a writ of error in the case of Dr.
W. E. Perry, who was tried and convicted a few weeks ago of criminally assaulting Miss Rosa E. Johnson, a patient to whom he had administered chloroform for an ailment. Perry was sentenced by Judge E. Boyd Faulkner to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Pined Guilty to Embezzlement.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., Sept. 13.— John S. Matthews pled guilty to the indictment for embezzling funds from the Valley Building and Loan Association before Judge E. Boyd Faulkner.
Matthews was secretary when he did the thing, and his shortage was discovered when there was a change of officers. It amounted to $3,500 and the association is secured by a bond for only $1,000, with George M. Bowers as security. There were six indictments and a note proso will be entered in the remaining five. The penalty for the crime is from two to ten years in the penitentiary, and he will be sentenced by Judge Faulkner within a few days.

SUMNER'S SENTENCE.

He is Found Guilty on Three Charges and Sentenced to Six Months Waiting Orders.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The navy department to-day made public its action in the case of Capt. George W. Sumner, late in command of the United States cruiser Columbia, who was tried recently by court martial at the Brooklyn navy yard on charges growing out of the injury sustained by his vessel in docking at Southampton in July last. The first charge was culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty. The court found him guilty in a less degree than charged, in that he did not fully perform his duty in having proper preparations made for the docking and seeing that the supporting blocks were in proper condition for receiving and sustaining her weight. The captain was found guilty of the second charge of suffering a vessel or the navy to be hazardous in violation of the naval regulations.
He was found guilty of the third charge, neglect of duty.

The sentence of the court is as follows:
"To be suspended from duty only, for a period of six months on waiting orders pay, and to be reprimanded by the honorable secretary of the navy."

The Ambulance.

Margaret E. Sangster, in Harper's Weekly.
I never see in our busy town, Where the ambulance men pass fiercely down, The swift onrush of the ambulance But I think of the blessed contentment Of one who walked by land and field And with one and look the suffering healed.
Still, where the city's woes are thick,
The dear Christ-spirit heals the sick.
And yet the lives in the hearts of men, And souls in the souls with speed again Wherever the weary plod and fall, His love and tenderness over all.

And the angels carry him, and lance,
And drive in the city's ambulance;
Are blind of speech and deaf of hand,
And quick of heart and of command;
And the wind of their coming clears the way For a breath of heaven in the dark day.

Peculiar to itself.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself, in a strictly medicinal sense, in three important particulars, viz: first, in the combination of remedial agents used; second, in the proportion in which they are mixed; third, in the process by which the active curative properties of the preparation are secured. These three important points make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar in its medicinal merit, as it accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

But it is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. What Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others is reason for confidence that it is the medicine for you.

teed.

A CHILD SAVED.

Tena Small Given Back to Her Parents.

A Very Happy Mother and a Very Happy Home.

A Full Description of How it All Came About.

"A dreary place, would be this earth Were there no little people in it;
The song of life would lose its mirth Were they no children to begin it."

Our children are in truth the light of our lives. The word home has its fullest meaning only where there are children.

Mothers, therefore, can comprehend the joy which thrills each work of the following communication from Mrs. Ernest Small, of Lisbon Falls, Maine. (Box 195.)

"During the latter part of last winter, my little daughter, Tena, had a severe run of typhoid fever, which left her in a very bad condition. She failed instead of gaining any.
She was extremely weak and nervous, and could not take a proper amount of nourishment, on account of the condition of her stomach. In fact, her appetite failed so she could not eat anything."

"She had sores in her head which broke and discharged, and she was very deaf for some time. We grew very anxious about her."

"Finally I gave her Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and she began to gain right off. I am glad to write of the benefit, and great good, she received from its use. I did not have to give her quite two bottles, and it made her as well and as strong and rugged as can be.
I cannot thank this wonderfully good medicine enough, and I have recommended it to others."

LITTLE TENA SMALL.

If your infants or children are sick, give them that greatest of all children's remedies, Dr.
Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.
This wonderful remedy is, above all, a family medicine, and its name is a household word in thousands of homes all over the land. It is made from pure and harmless vegetable remedies, is calming, soothing and healing to the nerves, and at the same time, strengthens and invigorates the entire system, restoring a healthful color to the cheek, refreshing sleep, strong nerves, stout limbs, and that bounding health and vitality which all children should have. It is perfectly safe to give to children of any age, and its curative and restorative effects are wonderful.

It is not a potent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr.
Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City.
He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr.
Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.
